- 2 You will receive the best medical care for your mind and body.
We always consider the best interest of the child. We will give the utmost consideration to the method, place, and time of medical treatment to minimize the child's physical and emotional suffering.
We will also ensure that the child receives medical care in a fair manner, without discrimination based on age or medical condition.

We acknowledge that the child has his or her own ideas about the disease and its treatment, and we will provide opportunities for the child to express these ideas. We also need to acquire skills through training to receive messages and signs from the children when it is difficult for them to express themselves.
In cases where it is difficult for the child to make his or her own decision, the adults surrounding the child must consider the child's best interests and make the decision.
In such cases, a second opinion system can be used if necessary. We will explain our decisions to the child, and will do our utmost to make sure that the child is satisfied with the decisions and that he or she is in agreement with our decisions.

Our policies for protection of patient's private information

Kyushu University Hospital (referred to as “the hospital”) creates medical records according to treatment accepted by patients. These records are including many of patient's private information, and we believe that handling of those information with respect is most important factor. In order to establish reliable mutual relationships with patients, the hospital acts to supervise and protect medical & private information based on policies below.

Policies

1. The hospital shall adhere to laws and ordinances related to personal information protection and relevant guidelines, shall establish internal rules based thereon, and all personnel shall adhere to the rules to handle the information of our patients appropriately. We shall also confirm, as necessary, that there are no problems concerning personal information protection and shall make improvements continuously.
2. Although the hospital shall collect personal information of our patients within the scope necessary, we shall indicate, within the hospital, the purpose of use of such collection. Although the personal information of our patients that we collect may be used for medical research, education, and training, we shall maintain anonymity to the extent possible and make effort to avoid infringement of the privacy of our patients.

To secure medical safety & protection of patient's private information

Presenting a patient's name during admission

The hospital pays careful attention to protect the patient's personal information based on the hospital's personal information protection policy and is engaged in various activities in preventing medical accidents. Safe medical practice is based on providing appropriate medical care suited for each patient and if "mixing up patients" occurs accidentally by not displaying the patient's name, this may lead to serious accidents such as examinations, injections, and surgery different from which were originally planned.

Based on the above reasons, we uphold the policy of displaying the patient's name with regard to the following matters and take the personal information protection measures indicated in bracket.

Where we present a patient's name

1. Nameplate outside of the room
2. Wristband
3. Bed (Nameplate will be turned over when a patient carried to other sections/public spaces within the hospital)
4. On a cup/container to take urine samples
5. On a container of blood/urine sample for research section (to be kept in designated box at nurse stations and cleaning rooms with names not being seen until its collection)
6. On IV infusion bags or bottles, and syringes (they will be covered up for patients travel to public areas within the hospital, if requested.)

Should you ask your attending doctor or nurse for your concerns, questions & requests regarding the presentation of your name, when you admitted. If no particular questions/requests submitted, we regard as the name display system has been agreed by patients.

The Next Generation Medical Infrastructure Act

- Based on the Next Generation Medical Infrastructure Act, our hospital securely provides patient medical information to government-certified operators for the purpose of medical research and development in Japan.
- These certified operators remove personally identifiable information such as names, addresses, and patient IDs, and provide only "anonymized medical information" — including disease names, treatments, test results, and medications — to research institutions, government agencies, and companies developing pharmaceuticals and medical devices.
- Additionally, "pseudonymized medical information" — which cannot identify individuals unless matched with other data — is also provided only to users who have been reviewed and certified by the government. This information also excludes names, addresses, and patient IDs.
- Your information will be provided to certified operators one month after this document is first handed to you.
- If you choose to refuse the provision of your medical information, it will not be shared with certified operators. Refusal will not affect your medical treatment in any way.

1 Pre-Admission

What You Need to Know

There are four important points we would like you to know upon hospitalization.

Explanation and agreement (Informed Consent)

- Please receive a thorough explanation of your illness, examinations, and treatment policy from your doctor.
- Please consult with your family who will be able to receive explanations of the illness.
- The 'Hospital Care Plan' in which your treatment schedule are written will be handed over to you during your hospitalization, and a doctor or nurse will explain to you about the plan.

Explanation of patient's condition, surgery, treatment and consultation are performed within consultation hours (9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.) on weekdays as a rule.

*Our hospital may not be able to accept patient or his/her family's request of explanations mentioned above during nighttime or weekend except when clinical department needs to do so.

What is 'Certificate of eligibility for ceiling-amount' application

We recommend you to apply for it before your admission, and present the approved certificate at the Inpatient reception on the day of your hospitalization. The amount of payment will be reduced by applying and acquiring the certificate.

※For more details, please refer p27 or attached sheet, 'Certificate of eligibility for ceiling-amount application.

Visiting different medical institutions during your hospitalization

In principle, you are not allowed to see medical professions at different medical facilities other than Kyushu University Hospital (including your home doctor) during your hospitalization in our hospital. Visiting and seeing other medical practitioners at other facilities with your own favor (including your family having a consultation on your behalf) will cost you 100%, meaning your health insurance will not cover its fees. However, this rule is excluded when you visit a dental institution during your medical (non-dental) hospitalization in our hospital.

(e.g.) I asked my family to get my medications from my family doctor because they are running out.

→Make sure to inform your doctor, nurse or pharmacist if you are taking regular medications.

Please talk to your doctor about a consultation with a doctor at a different medical institution during your hospitalization. If you have questions, please contact a person in charge of hospitalization (TEL: 092-642-5149).

For those who are facing surgery

*Details about surgery will be given to you after your admission.

Stop smoking

Smokers have higher risks of getting inflammation in bronchial tubes and having more phlegm. After operations, it is hard to cough because of wound pains, and it accumulates phlegm and it could end up inflammation of the lungs (pneumonia). Let's stop smoking now if you are a smoker.

Mind your oral care

Risk of developing of pneumonia could be reduced by keeping oral cleanliness. Visit our Perioperative Oral Care Centre, and keep in mind to practice brushing your teeth properly at home.

Prevent infection

For a coming operation, make a routine to gaggle and wash your hands to prevent getting cold. Please be sure to contact a relevant outpatient department if your physical conditions become poor (having more than 38°C fever, diarrhea etc.) on your admission day.

Admission Procedures

- Hospitalization reception serves a number tag for the day. Please visit the reception with enough time frame to your appointed time. The reception hours are from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

2 Your Stay

Hand Hygiene

Pathogens that are not a problem when you are healthy can cause infections when you become ill or when one's physical strength is declined by treatment. The basis of infection prevention is hand hygiene (hand wash or hand disinfection) at first. Hand hygiene is important especially in a hospital environment where a large number of people, including patients, medical personnel, and visiting people come and go.

Healthcare workers are enforcing hand hygiene for infection control. Patients and visiting people also need hand hygiene before and after meals and after entering and leaving the hospital room.

● Use soap & running water

Washing hands especially after using the bathroom is important.

How to properly wash hands

Wet both hands completely.

Take the soap in your palm, and rub the soap between both hands.

Rub the backs of both hands back and forth.

Wash your fingers and nails on both hands.

Wash between your fingers well.

Hold your thumb and rub with your other hand (both thumbs).

Don't forget to wash your wrists.

Rinse off the soap with water, and dry with a clean towel or paper.

Spots we often miss in handwashing.

● Disinfecting Hands

We recommend those who are allergic to alcohol to use soap.

How to use hand sanitizer

Put 2 pumps (2ml) or more disinfectant gel on the palm.

Rub the agent step by step as follows.

Rub your hands well till the gel gets dry out. It gives complete sterilization & disinfection. It is not necessary to dry your hands by towels.

Request to Wear Face Masks in the Hospital

Wearing a mask is effective in preventing infection from infectious diseases such as COVID19. If you have respiratory symptoms such as coughing, please wear a mask. We also recommend wearing a mask if your immune system is weakened due to medical treatment or other reasons.

For Your Safe Stay

We are working on medical safety throughout the hospital so that every patient in the hospital can receive medical care without anxiety. We appreciate your understanding and cooperation with regard to our procedures below.

1 Confirming patient's name

We reconfirm your FULL NAME, not only your last name.

Many people have same last names. We make sure both last name and first name to prevent mixing up patients.

We ask you to SAY YOUR NAME.

In order to prevent misunderstandings, we ask patients to say their name.

We ask you to wear an ID wrist band

ID bands are used for hospital staff to ensure patients when giving treatments such as injections, examinations or operations.

2 If you are confused..., Please ask us first.

Let's work together on maintaining safety.

"I was given instructions how to take drugs by a nurse in the inpatient ward, but my doctor said different things."

"I was given an explanation about a test tomorrow, but I could not understand well"

"Ward staff recommended the treatment, but I wonder if there is any other options? I hesitated to ask."

"I did not hear my test results. I want doctor to explain to me."

*Feel free to ask hospital staff at all times without any hesitation.

3 Prevention of fall incidence

Since the life in hospital is quite different from what you are accustomed to at home in terms of living environment or habits, your "everyday life" changes little by little.

1 Hospital environment

You mainly stay on the bed during the hospitalization. The hospital floor is much harder than tatami mats or carpets. If you fall on the floor or fall from the bed, it would be much more painful than you think and you may broke your bone. It is also very dangerous to stand on the bed.

! The beds are higher than your bed at home. Please do not lower the BED FENCE.

It was so painful when I was off guard and fell down from the bed!

2 Decrease in activity under medical treatment

Immobility affects the movement of the body unexpectedly.

- Feel dizzy when moving the body.
- Can't move the body as you want.
- Can't do things you used to do.

! Such things are not special but CAN HAPPEN TO ANYONE!

I had to have surgery for femoral fracture so the date of discharge was extended for one month!

•Also...

I hit on my head and had to check again and again for a while.

The wound got opened when I fell down so I had to have reoperation.

3 Your physical condition may change because of the drug administration.

Patient's physical condition may change temporarily and experience i.e., dizziness, general weakness, or increased amount of urine, due to examinations, IV drips, injections, oral medicines, etc.

! Please tell your nurse if you feel different about your physical condition. The nurse will attend you or take you in a wheel chair when necessary.

4 Things You Need to be Careful

Footwear

It is better and safer for you to choose the right size for you and also pick those you are used to wearing.

! Slippers are prohibited.

[For patients being hospitalized] Footwear during hospitalization

In order not to trip or fall down, please be attentive about your footwear. Patients who fall down because of the type of footwear has been increasing.

Preferable

shoe type

Footwear that has caused falling over prohibited

These come off easily and can cause tripping

These are high in friction so can cause tripping easily.

Over-bed Table

Over-bed table has wheels underneath so it moves smoothly and unintentionally and therefore it can be dangerous. Please do not lean on and make sure to put the table along the wall when you do not use.

Patient-Nurse Call System

Keep the 'nurse call button' at hand. Please press your nurse call button if you need help. If you feel dizzy or spinning sensation after using a sleeping pill or examination, be sure to call the nurse especially when you want to go to the bathroom.

I was told to call a nurse...
But I think I will be okay by myself.

! No! It can be a cause of slipping or falling down.

4 “Delirium” prevention is important

1 Do you know what “Delirium” is?

“Delirium” is a state of confused consciousness caused by a sudden change in environment, physical condition, or mental or physical strain due to surgery, tests, or medication adjustments.

“Delirium” includes the following symptoms.

! Not only are these symptoms emotionally stressful, but they can also lead to the patient removing the IV or other tubes from their body, which are important for treatment, leading to a fall, etc.

Unlike dementia, it develops suddenly and is usually transient, although it varies from person to person. The onset of the disease may also be preventable.

2 The characteristics of people likely to develop “Delirium”

- ☒ Those who are 70 years old or older
- ☒ Those with dementia or those who are usually forgetful
- ☒ Those who have had the symptoms shown in the above picture before due to hospitalization
- ☒ Those who have had a cerebral infarction or cerebral hemorrhage
- ☒ Those who take sleeping pills internally
- ☒ Those who drink a lot of alcohol every day

3 Prevention of "Delirium"

Preparation in advance may prevent or reduce delirium.

Preparation before hospitalization

- Try to be physically prepared as much as possible, and if you are a heavy drinker, try to reduce the amount of alcohol you drink. (It is preferable to abstain from alcohol if possible)
- In preparation for hospitalization, please take into consideration the following.

Something that shows the date and time

Desktop calendar, clock, etc.

*Mobile phones and smart phones can be inconvenient.

Items that make it easy to see what is going on around you

Glasses, hearing aids, etc.

Familiar items

Bedclothes, dentures, towels, toiletries, etc.

After hospitalization

Measures to ease anxiety and confusion

- Keep calendars and clocks in visible positions to have a sense of time.

- Maintain a rhythm of day and night, and stay awake during the day.
- Use glasses or hearing aids so that you can better perceive your surroundings.
- It is important to get rid of uncomfortable symptoms such as pain, constipation, or difficulty sleeping. Please do not put up with it and consult with us as soon as possible for any help you may need.

4 When delirium occurs....

We will work with the psychiatric team to treat delirium.
We will adjust medications and the therapeutic environment.

We ask for the cooperation of the patient's family members, as their encouragement and support are very effective.

5 Venous thrombosis (economy class syndrome) prevention

Venous thrombosis (economy class syndrome) can occur during hospitalization.

A little exercise can help prevent it, so give it a try!

Here are some simple exercises you can do in bed.

What is venous thrombosis (economy class syndrome)?

Venous thrombosis (economy class syndrome) is the formation of blood clots in the venous vessels for some reason.

During hospitalization, blood clots are more likely to form, especially in the veins of the legs (deep vein thrombosis), because the amount of exercise is reduced compared to at home due to the need to rest for tests and treatment.

If some of these blood clots flow into the lungs in the bloodstream, they can clog the blood vessels in the lungs, resulting in poor respiratory status (pulmonary embolism).

Pulmonary embolism

A blood clot that breaks away from a blood vessel is carried by the bloodstream to the lungs and becomes obstructed in the blood vessels of the lungs.

【Symptoms】

- Sudden dyspnea and chest pain
- Shortness of breath when walking

Deep vein thrombosis

A blood clot that forms in a vein in the leg, especially in the calf, can dislodge and cause a pulmonary embolism.

【Symptoms】

- Swelling, pain, and redness in the calf or thigh
- Feeling of tightness in the calf
- Feeling of weakness in the legs

※If you notice any symptoms during your hospital stay, please let us know.

How to exercise for prevention

Be aware of your calf muscles and bend and stretch your ankles. The stretching and contracting of the calf muscles improves circulation in the veins of the legs and prevents the formation of blood clots. Massaging the calf is also effective. This improves blood flow in the legs.

For some patients, further precautions may be taken to reduce the formation of blood clots. We will let you know if this is the case and ask for your cooperation.

We are offering “Exercises to Prevent Muscle Weakness in the Legs and Backs” that can be easily performed on TV (broadcasted in the hospital) free of charge. Please watch it as exercise prevents blood clots from forming. Try to do it within a moderate range of effort.

About Radiological Examinations

In order to provide treatment according to the patient's medical condition, radiological examinations, such as X-rays and CT scans, may be performed.

Although the body is exposed to a small amount of radiation, it is not a dose that will affect the body.

The benefits of the examination outweigh the risks associated with radiation exposure. We use the latest technology to minimize radiation exposure.

If you have any concerns or questions about radiological examinations, please ask your doctor.

Typical Radiation Examination Exposure Dose

Chest X-ray

0.05mSv

Stomach X-ray

2~10mSv

X-ray CT

5~30mSv

Nuclear medicine examination

0.2~10mSv

Although the amount of radiation received from the examination does not affect your health, the following points should be kept in mind when performing the examination.

- ① We request the minimum necessary examination to make a diagnosis.
- ② We always perform and record examinations with the optimum radiation dose.

We appreciate your understanding and cooperation.

4 Hospitalization Fee

DPC/PDPS (Diagnosis Procedure Combination / Per-Diem Payment System)

Kyushu University Hospital is a hospital subjected to Comprehensive Assessment (DPC/PDPS).

Since Kyushu University Hospital (medical department) is a hospital subjected to 'comprehensive assessment of hospitalization medical care', the hospitalization fee of patients admitted to the hospital will be calculated based on the comprehensive evaluation system.

So the comprehensive score per day is the basis.

A What is the comprehensive assessment?

With comprehensive assessment, the hospital fees are calculated not by addition of scores in response to medical practices that have been performed but based on the number of scores per day determined in accordance with the type of injury of illness diagnosed and the content of the operation, treatment procedures, etc.

B What items are included and how are they calculated?

The basic hospitalization charges, examinations, administered medications, injections, image diagnosis, etc., are included in the comprehensive items, and are calculated on a daily basis regardless of the content of medical treatment. However, operations and some procedures/examinations, etc., are not included in the comprehensive items, so it is calculated based on a fee-for-service system by adding the respectively determined scores of the medical practices.

How to calculate...

$$\text{Hospitalization fee} = \left(\begin{array}{l} \text{Comprehensive scores per day} \times \text{Number of days of hospitalization} \times \text{Medical institution-specific coefficient} \\ + \text{Fee-for-service scores} \end{array} \right) \times 10 \text{ yen}$$

Basic hospitalization fee	Administered medication fee	Operation and anesthetization fee
Treatment procedure fee	Injection fee	Portion of treatment procedures and examination fee
Image diagnosis	Examination fee	Rehabilitation fee
		Meal fee

*Medical institution-specific coefficient: A coefficient that is determined based on the functions and system of each hospital

C Which patients are eligible?

Comprehensive assessment applies to hospitalized patients of the general ward whose injury or illness is eligible for the diagnosis procedure combination (DPC).

Comprehensive assessment does not apply and fee-for-service calculation is performed for outpatients, patients who are hospitalized in wards besides the general ward, and patients for whom the diagnosis procedure combination (DPC) does not apply.

D Can a selection be made between comprehensive assessment and fee-for-service calculation?

A patient cannot make a selection.
The fee calculation method is determined upon diagnosis by a doctor of the relevant clinical department.

E How is the hospitalization fee paid?

Basically, payment is made on a monthly basis.
However, the charge may vary when the diagnosis procedure combination (DPC) changes due to the progress of illness and content of treatment after hospitalization, and therefore adjustment of the difference with respect to the amount paid before the previous month may be performed at discharge.
